

Medical and Chest X-ray Certificate

Supporting information for a visa application

Applicant's notes

The information in this section will help you complete this certificate. Please read the information in this section before you start to complete this certificate. If you wish, you can tear off and keep these notes (pages 1-4).

Applicants for entry to New Zealand are required to have an acceptable standard of health (the leaflet Health Requirements (INZ 1121) has more details). This medical certificate records information about your health that Immigration New Zealand requires to assess whether you meet this standard.

Deciding whether you are eligible for a visa

Immigration New Zealand collects the information about you on this form to decide whether you are eligible for a visa. We may also use the information to contact you for research purposes or to advise you on immigration matters.

Collecting the information is authorised by the Immigration Act 2009 and the Immigration Regulations made under that Act. You do not have to provide the information, but if you do not we are likely to decline your application.

Immigration New Zealand may also share the information you have provided with other government agencies that are entitled to it by law, or with other agencies (as you have agreed in the declaration).

If you come to New Zealand, you will be able to ask to see the information we hold about you and have any of it corrected if you think it is necessary.

The address of Immigration New Zealand is PO Box 3705, Wellington, New Zealand. Do not send your certificate to this address.

When do I use this medical certificate?

You must use this certificate if:

- you are applying for a temporary entry class visa for New Zealand and you intend to stay longer than 12 months, unless you are applying for a military visa, diplomatic, consular or official visa, or a visa related to the Antarctic Treaty, or
- you are applying for residence.

What if I submitted a medical certificate with my last application?

If you are applying for residence you will need to submit a new medical certificate.

You may not need a new medical certificate if you are applying for a temporary entry class visa and you have submitted a medical certificate completed and dated by a medical practitioner within the last 24 months with a previous application. Your case officer will let you know if a new medical is required.

How do I prepare for my medical examination?

To reduce the possibility of you being requested to return to the medical examiner for further tests, you can prepare for your examination by following these simple steps:

- drink plenty of water
- where possible and medically fit, be fasting by not eating 8 – 12 hours prior to blood tests
- do not consume alcohol or kava 48 hours prior to your examination
- minimise the fat content in your diet 48 hours prior to your examination
- if unwell, do not undergo medical examination
- if female, do not schedule your examination during menstruation.

Where do I go to have my medical examination?

In countries where Immigration New Zealand has an approved list of panel doctors and radiologists this certificate must be completed by a listed medical practitioner and a listed radiologist. Please see our website at www.immigration.govt.nz/paneldoctors to find your nearest panel doctor.

If you live in a country which does not have any panel doctors, a registered medical practitioner, preferably your own general practitioner can complete this certificate.

In New Zealand any registered general practitioner is able to complete this certificate. If you do not have a doctor please refer to the telephone book for a list of general practitioners near you.

How long will it take to complete the medical certificate?

You may have to wait to get an appointment for a medical examination, so give yourself plenty of time before you need to lodge your immigration application. Once your examination is complete it may be two or three weeks before you receive your completed medical certificate from the medical examiner. This is because he/she must wait for the results of your chest X-ray and blood tests.

Important: If you have a minor illness, or if you are on a short course of antibiotics, please postpone your appointment until you are well again.

What do I bring to the examination?

- This certificate, with Sections A, H, I and J completed, and your name at the top of each page where indicated.
- Your valid passport, for identification.
- Three recent passport photos.
- Any spectacles or contact lenses you wear.
- Old chest x-rays, and any existing medical specialist reports, particularly if you have a known medical condition.
- Details of any prescription medicines you are currently taking (including drug name and dosage).

Can I bring someone with me?

Yes, you may bring someone with you to the medical examination. You may also bring an interpreter. If you need an interpreter, please arrange this before the examination and tell the medical examiner when you make your appointment that you will bring an interpreter. Your interpreter may be a person from a professional service or, if that is not possible, a respected person from your community.

What is involved in completing the certificate?

This medical certificate has three components, all of which must be completed in English:

- a physical examination with a medical examiner (for which you may be required to remove some clothing),
- a chest X-ray, and
- blood and urine tests.

Some medical examiners will have the facilities to complete all parts of the medical certificate; others may refer you to separate X-ray and laboratory services. You may be required to give blood and urine samples at the doctor's rooms.

What about children?

All applicants including children and newborn babies are required to submit a completed medical certificate, or have one submitted on their behalf.

- Children under 16 must be accompanied during the medical examination by a parent or guardian.
- Chest X-rays are not required of children under the age of 11 unless requested by Immigration New Zealand.
- Children under 15 are not usually required to undergo the standard blood tests, unless risk or clinical factors make them necessary.
- Children under five are not usually required to give a urine sample.

Your responsibilities

- You must pay the fees. The applicant, or the parent or guardian of a child applicant, must pay for the medical examination, the chest X-ray, the laboratory tests and any specialist reports or follow-up tests required.
- You must tell the truth. False statements on your medical certificate may result in your application being declined, any visa granted being cancelled, and if you are in New Zealand, you being required to leave the country.

When do I submit my medical certificate?

Your medical certificate must be lodged within three months from the date the medical examiner signs it.

Submit your completed certificate, including chest X-ray and laboratory results, with your application.

What happens next?

Immigration New Zealand, or its medical assessor, may follow up your submission with a request for further information in the form of specialist reports or further tests for which you may have to visit another doctor. You are responsible for any costs associated with any additional tests or reports.

If you have an existing condition it will help your case if you provide as much information as possible with your certificate, including recent specialist reports.

GUIDE TO COMPLETING THE MEDICAL CERTIFICATE

Completing Section A Personal details

Please complete this section before you see the doctor.

In this section you confirm your personal details and the type of work or study (if undertaking work or study) you will be doing in New Zealand. It is important that you answer every question because the information you provide will ensure your medical certificate is matched with your immigration application.

Completing Section B Medical history of person having the medical examination

Please complete this section in full with the medical examiner or their representative (eg the practice nurse).

This section summarises your medical history, to help the medical examiner and Immigration New Zealand understand your current state of health. If you are not sure about an aspect of your medical history, please declare it. If you have written reports from other doctors with details of existing medical conditions it will help your case to bring these to the examination with you.

Completing Section C Personal declaration of person having the medical examination

This section is for you to sign in front of the doctor who examines you.

Children under 16 cannot sign their own declaration; a parent or guardian should sign on their behalf.

Completing Section D Medical examination and findings

Completion of this section will involve a physical examination which may require you to remove some clothing.

The questions in this section will be completed by the medical examiner to record your physical state of health. Your height and weight, eyesight, hearing and reflexes will be measured. The medical examiner will also listen to your heart and take your blood pressure, and may perform other tests to gauge your mental state, your lung capacity or other functions. Some of these tests may be performed by the nurse on behalf of the medical examiner.

Women aged 45 and over are required to undergo a breast examination. If this applies to you, you may nominate a specialist to perform this exam or provide the results of a recent mammogram or breast ultrasound (completed in the last six months).

You may request a chaperone to be present during the medical examination. Please advise the medical examiner if you would like a chaperone to be present during the medical examination.

Completing Sections E, F, and G Urinalysis and blood test results, medical examiner's summary of findings and declaration

These sections are completed by the medical examiner after he/she has examined you and seen the results of your chest X-ray and blood and urine tests.

Completing Sections H and I Laboratory referral form

All applicants 15 years of age and over must undergo the standard blood tests. Other blood tests may be requested by the doctor where indicated by your medical history or examination eg if you have diabetes.

You will be required to give a blood sample and a urine sample for testing. The front part of this form is for the medical examiner to indicate which tests are required. You must complete the reverse of this form (Section I) with your details and sign the declaration in front of the person who takes your blood.

This page can be detached from the medical certificate and you must take it with you when you have your blood sample taken.

Children under 15 may in some instances be required to undergo some blood tests if they have clinical indicators or risk factors for certain conditions.

All applicants 11 years and over are required to undergo a chest X-ray to screen for tuberculosis and evidence of other systemic medical conditions. This X-ray is required even where you have recently submitted a temporary entry X-ray report. Pregnant women and children under 11 are not required to undergo the chest X-ray examination, unless requested by Immigration New Zealand.

This page can be detached from the main form and is for you to take with you when you get your chest X-ray.

Please answer questions K1 to K9 before your X-ray but do not sign the declaration until you are with the radiographer who takes the X-ray.

If there are no abnormalities noted on the radiologist's report you do not need to submit the film to Immigration New Zealand.

Please keep these notes. Detach at the perforation.
